

1. Give at least two reasons that MacBeth fears Banquo.
2. How does MacBeth convince the murderers to do his dirty work?
3. Why does MacBeth wait until the very end of his discussion with the murderers to mention Fleance? Why is Fleance's death important to MacBeth?
4. How does Lady MacBeth explain her husband's strange behavior at the banquet? Are the guests reassured by Lady MacBeth's reasons?
5. What does the following quote tell you about MacBeth as a king:
"There is not a one of them but in his house I keep a servant fee'd"
(3.4.133-134).
6. Why has MacDuff gone to England?
7. How do you know that MacBeth feels guilty about the murders he is responsible for?
8. What is your interpretation of the ghost appearing at the banquet?

1. Give at least two reasons that MacBeth fears Banquo.
2. How does MacBeth convince the murderers to do his dirty work?
3. Why does MacBeth wait until the very end of his discussion with the murderers to mention Fleance? Why is Fleance's death important to MacBeth?
4. How does Lady MacBeth explain her husband's strange behavior at the banquet? Are the guests reassured by Lady MacBeth's reasons?
5. What does the following quote tell you about MacBeth as a king:
"There is not a one of them but in his house I keep a servant fee'd"
(3.4.133-134).
6. Why has MacDuff gone to England?
7. How do you know that MacBeth feels guilty about the murders he is responsible for?
8. What is your interpretation of the ghost appearing at the banquet?